This course provides students with an introduction to a wide range of scholarship on race and ethnicity. We explore different approaches to the sociohistorical construction of race, with scholars variously emphasizing that race is historically constructed through a range of institutions, laws, policies, and technologies. In addition to these approaches that emphasize the construction of race through externally imposed forces, we explore how racial and ethnic identities are also forged through collective practices of resistance, solidarity, and community.

25%  Exam 2  (Due 10/30)
35%  Exam 3  (Due 12/13)

Students are expected to thoroughly and carefully read the course policies below.

ATTENDANCE:

Class attendance is mandatory and lectures are structured to maximize student participation. Being present and actively participating in class is central to the learning process. Attendance will be taken at every class meeting and it is students’ responsibility to make sure that they have signed the attendance sheet.
Students are allotted 4 absences without penalty. Additional absences will result in a 1% deduction from the final grade for each absence beyond the allotted 4. This allotment is intended to cover any and all illnesses or family and personal matters, as well as to relieve me of the enormous administrative work of dealing with absence requests on an individual basis. Please do not email to notify me of or explain absences – the absence allotment is intended to accommodate for any/all reasons for missing class. Exceptions/accommodations to the attendance policy will only be made in situations of serious extended illness or severe crises and require submitting the relevant documentation, as well as a meeting with me to discuss the situation.

Class begins promptly at 10 minutes after the scheduled hour (5:10 pm). Please be present on time as late arrivals disrupt the class. Students are expected to remain in the classroom until the conclusion of the lecture. Students should never leave class early without discussing this with me prior.

REQUIRED READINGS:

The primary work for this class is reading – this course requires extensive and careful reading. The assignments listed for each class meeting are to be read prior to that scheduled class. The expectation is that students allocate the necessary time to undertake a thorough and careful reading. The examinations for this course consist of take-home, open-book exams which you will have limited time to complete, and which will require extensive citation (in other words, your answers to the exam questions will require you to provide the corresponding page numbers from the text). Hence, keeping up with the readings and notetaking throughout the semester are crucial for performing well on exams.

All readings listed on the syllabus are included in the course reader, available at Replica Digital Ink (510 549-9991) at 2138 Oxford Street (by the Center Street entrance to campus). You must first purchase the reader on their website (https://store.replicadigitalink.com/), and then you’ll have the option of picking it up or having it shipped to you.

All course readings are also available on bCourses. However, I strongly recommend that you utilize a course reader rather than these digital copies. Extensive research indicates that we learn and process information much more effectively with hard copies. The course reader will also prove highly advantageous for the exams (all your readings/notes will be organized and easily accessible).

Whether you choose to purchase the course reader or utilize the digital copies on bCourses, you are expected to bring the assigned readings to every class meeting.

READING GUIDES:

Included in the course reader (and available on bCourses) are reading guides for all of the assigned readings. You should always refer to the reading guides before beginning the assigned readings as they are intended to make the process easier (especially for the more difficult theoretical texts). Utilizing these guides will enable you to focus on the most important issues and help clarify your reading.
READING RESPONSES:

Students are required to submit reading responses for 10 reading assignments. These reading responses require answering questions from the reading guides (the specific questions to be answered are noted at the bottom of each reading guide). Your answers may be brief but must clearly reflect that you carefully and thoroughly read the assignment. There are a total of 16 reading response opportunities (marked on the syllabus with an asterisk), from which you choose 10 to complete. Reading responses must be uploaded to bCourses by 5pm (prior to our class meeting). No late submissions will be accepted.

EXAMS:

The 3 exams for this course will be open-book, take-home examinations that consist of short essays that assess students’ mastery of the course materials. Exams will be cumulative (covering material from the entirety of the semester) and will be geared towards asking students to synthesize the scholarship covered in the course.

The time allotted for completing these exams is purposively limited because part of the objective is to assess how well students have kept up with course readings and lectures. Those who have done so will have sufficient time to complete the exam, while those who have not will be struggling to catch up with completing the course work. Hence, extensions will not be granted (as this undermines the exam assessment) and late submissions will result in a grade penalty.

The distribution and due dates for the exams are listed on this syllabus. Students are expected to be aware of these dates and to schedule and prepare accordingly. You should check these deadlines against your other academic obligations at the beginning of the semester and ensure that you are able to meet them before deciding to remain in this course. Please do not contact me with requests to change due dates because of other academic obligations.

POTENTIAL DISRUPTIONS:

If our ability to hold class in person is interrupted for any reason, class will be held via zoom until in person instruction resumes. All course requirements, including attendance and assignments/exams (which have been designed to accommodate this) will remain in effect.

SPECIAL ACCOMMODATIONS:

Please notify me immediately if you require any special accommodations for the course. If you are registered with the DSP program, please ensure that your accommodation letter is forwarded to me at the beginning of the semester. Students who wish to utilize DSP accommodations for the exams are required to contact me about this well in advance.

ACADEMIC INTEGRITY:

All written work must be your own. Any words, or even ideas, drawn from another source (even if paraphrased) must be appropriately cited. bCourses will automatically screen all submitted coursework for plagiarism.
