Course Description

This course will examine major elements in the complex relationship between families and larger social forces. Rather than assuming a universal model of the family (sometimes seen as the “building block” of society) we will look at families as diverse social entities that are supported or constrained by economic factors, public policies, gender ideologies, racial hierarchies, sexual norms and cultural changes—including those brought through immigration. Once we understand how forces of social inequality play out within families in general, we can better understand the dynamics within individual families. With insights into social and institutional influences on American families, we consider a variety of political, economic and cultural reforms that would best support families in their diverse forms.

Course Goals

- 1) to better understand the social forces that have shaped American family life;
- 2) to appreciate the impact of social policies on family stability and instability;
- 3) to increase awareness of family dynamics as they affect personal life;
- 4) to approach personal family-related decisions with enhanced critical and creative skills;
- 5) to value sociology as a tool to illuminate the social elements within “private” spheres of life.

Required texts

This course has two required texts and one required course reader as follows:

- 1) Arlie Hochschild, THE SECOND SHIFT
- 2) Brigid Schulte, OVERWHELMED
- 3) Course reader available at Krishna Copy at 2595 Telegraph Ave. near the corner of Parker Street. All articles including recommended readings are included in the course reader.

Note: both books have been placed on reserve in Moffitt Library, but you must buy a course reader.

Grades

Grading will be based on the completion of the following assignments:

- 1) 20% There will be five (5) quizzes. Each quiz will be announced in class and you will have 24 hours to take the quiz on B-course. The average of your four (4) best quiz grades will be used to calculate your final (cumulative) quiz score.
- 2) 30% There will be two (2) take home essays (midterm exams) each worth 15% of your grade. Essay prompt will be posted in both a b-course module and the Assignments section. All essays will be submitted electronically to the Assignments section on B-course.
- 3) 5% Submission of draft of final project (description to follow). Drafts will receive comments but no grade other than credit/no credit to acknowledge submission of a serious attempt to start your final project. Because you are getting credit for starting your project, there will be no extensions granted.

- 4) 35% Final project based on investigation into and reflection on how different forms of social inequality (class, race, gender) affected your family life as well as the quality of life within your home community (6-7 pages). Essay prompt will be posted in both a b-course module and the Assignments section. All essays will be submitted electronically to the Assignments section on B-course.
- 5) 10% Participation—participation includes:
- participation in class as demonstrated by answering i-clicker questions (5%)
  - at least 1 post (either new posts or responses to classmates' comments) per module on the Discussion Board for a total of 5 posts (5%)

Note: I will post power point lectures after class only if at least 90% of the class has participated in class by answering i-clicker questions!

- 6) Extra credit: Students may earn up to 1 point of extra credit by doing one of the following:
- reading and writing a review of any book on the Supplemental Reading list or other books on the family subject to my approval (1 point); OR

ALL STUDENT PAPERS SUBMITTED ON B-COURSE WILL BE SCREENED FOR PLAGIARIZED SOURCES VIA “TURNITIN”

University policy on cheating or plagiarism (from 2019 On-line Course Catalog)

Achievement and proficiency in subject matter include your realization that neither is to be achieved by cheating. An instructor has the right to give you an F on a single assignment produced by cheating without determining whether you have a passing knowledge of the relevant factual material. That is an appropriate academic evaluation for a failure to understand or abide by the basic rules of academic study and inquiry. An instructor has the right to assign a final grade of F for the course if you plagiarized a paper for a portion of the course, even if you have successfully and, presumably, honestly passed the remaining portion of the course. It must be understood that any student who knowingly aids in plagiarism or other cheating, e.g., allowing another student to copy a paper or examination question, is as guilty as the cheating student.
